

ALL THE WAY HERE

The Practice Workbook

Attention Reset, nine lesson pages, three family tools, and one thirty-day plan.

PRINT IT. WRITE IN IT.

Try the practice before you fill out the page.
Keep what helps. Release what does not.

SHOW UP FOR REAL LIFE

START HERE

Use the workbook beside the course.

This is a companion, not a second course and not a scorecard.

01

Print or save it now

Use the complete PDF or print only the page for the lesson you are taking.

02

Try the practice first

Read one lesson, use its practice in ordinary life, then return to the page.

03

Write what actually happened

Record a real response, not the answer you think a course wants.

04

Keep only what helps

At the end, choose two practices for thirty days. Let the rest wait.

WHAT SUCCESS LOOKS LIKE

You notice one moment earlier, make one useful choice, return when you said you would, or protect one relationship with more attention. That is enough to work with.

BEFORE LESSON ONE · THREE DAYS

The Attention Reset

Four small moves to notice the reflex and put a little choice back between you and the screen.

01 Remove the color

Try grayscale if color is part of the pull. Keep accessibility needs in charge.

02 Control the feeds

Remove or sign out of the apps that most often take you somewhere you did not choose.

03 Silence the machine

Turn off nonessential alerts. Keep health, safety, caregiving, and priority contacts.

04 Give the phone a home

When you arrive, try one drawer, bag, or charging station instead of carrying it room to room.

OPTIONAL WATCH RELAY

If you already wear a smart watch, allow only priority people and turn off mirrored feeds. Let it keep you reachable while the phone stays in its home.

THE MOMENT I WANT BACK

Name one repeated moment that deserves more of your attention.

START DATE

PHONE-AWAY WINDOW

ESSENTIAL EXCEPTION

1.1 · RETURN

The Sanctuary

Get the open loops out of your head.

THE QUESTION

Which unfinished things keep following me into the room?

THE PRACTICE I WILL TRY

Use paper for one honest mind sweep. Circle no more than three items for this week.

WHEN

WHERE

MINIMUM VERSION

AFTER I TRY IT

What happened? What helped? What needs to bend for real life?

1.2 · RETURN

Focus Mode

Protect the work that changes something.

THE QUESTION

Which maintenance tasks help me feel busy while avoiding the work that matters?

THE PRACTICE I WILL TRY

Choose one focused block and close the obvious gates before it begins.

WHEN

WHERE

MINIMUM VERSION

AFTER I TRY IT

What happened? What helped? What needs to bend for real life?

1.3 · RETURN

The Driveway Pause

Use the trip home as a deliberate transition.

THE QUESTION

What usually follows me through the door?

THE PRACTICE I WILL TRY

After you are safely parked, name what belongs to tomorrow and choose how you want to enter.

WHEN

WHERE

MINIMUM VERSION

AFTER I TRY IT

What happened? What helped? What needs to bend for real life?

2.1 · LEAD

The Emotional Thermostat

Pause before pressure chooses your response.

THE QUESTION

What signal tells me that pressure is about to choose my response?

THE PRACTICE I WILL TRY

Write one clean pause sentence and a specific time when you will return.

WHEN

WHERE

MINIMUM VERSION

AFTER I TRY IT

What happened? What helped? What needs to bend for real life?

2.2 · LEAD

The Date Night Algorithm

Create a little curiosity together.

THE QUESTION

What kind of shared activity makes conversation easier for us?

THE PRACTICE I WILL TRY

Choose one real time. Silence both phones and agree where they will stay out of sight.

WHEN

WHERE

MINIMUM VERSION

AFTER I TRY IT

What happened? What helped? What needs to bend for real life?

2.3 · LEAD

The Floor General

Join your child's world without taking it over.

THE QUESTION

How quickly do I start directing when I enter my child's world?

THE PRACTICE I WILL TRY

When they call your name or say, Watch this, put the phone down and give them your eyes first.

WHEN

WHERE

MINIMUM VERSION

AFTER I TRY IT

What happened? What helped? What needs to bend for real life?

3.1 · KEEP

The Third Place

Keep one part of life from becoming only duty.

THE QUESTION

What place or activity helps me return more alive and available?

THE PRACTICE I WILL TRY

Choose the smallest real version and coordinate the first two times this month.

WHEN

WHERE

MINIMUM VERSION

AFTER I TRY IT

What happened? What helped? What needs to bend for real life?

3.2 · KEEP

The Friendship Script

Invite first and make the invitation easy to answer.

THE QUESTION

Who am I hoping will invite me, and what stops me from inviting them?

THE PRACTICE I WILL TRY

Send one specific, low-pressure invitation with an activity, day, and time.

WHEN

WHERE

MINIMUM VERSION

AFTER I TRY IT

What happened? What helped? What needs to bend for real life?

3.3 · KEEP

Mission Debrief

Keep the practices that actually helped.

THE QUESTION

Which two practices would make the biggest difference in the life I already have?

THE PRACTICE I WILL TRY

Choose one Return practice and one Lead or Keep practice for the next thirty days.

WHEN

WHERE

MINIMUM VERSION

AFTER I TRY IT

What happened? What helped? What needs to bend for real life?

FAMILY TOOL 01

The Family Screen Reset

Recover one repeated moment together. Start with adult modeling and a three-day experiment, not punishment.

THE MOMENT WE WANT BACK

Dinner, the ride to school, bedtime, a game, Saturday morning, or another repeated moment.

WHAT IS PULLING OUR ATTENTION NOW?

Name the pattern without blaming one person.

OUR THREE-DAY EXPERIMENT

Where will devices live? When does the boundary begin and end? What exceptions do we need?

ADULTS WILL MODEL

KIDS HELP CHOOSE

START DATE

FAMILY TOOL 02

The Weekly Tradition Builder

Make one small thing worth returning to. Meaning comes from repetition, not size or expense.

WHAT DO WE WANT THIS TIME TO PROTECT?

Connection, play, faith, rest, food, movement, service, creativity, or something else.

THE SMALLEST REPEATABLE VERSION

Name the activity, day, time, place, and the version that still works during a hard week.

HOW WILL EVERYONE HAVE A VOICE?

What will adults organize? What can children or other family members choose?

PHONE PLAN

FIRST DATE

TRY IT FOR

FAMILY TOOL 03

The Side-by-Side Teen Check-In

Make room for a real conversation without cornering, interrogating, or turning the first answer into a lecture.

BEGIN BESIDE THEM

Drive, walk, make food, fix something, or sit somewhere neutral. The adult puts the phone away first.

ONE EASY INVITATION

Want to ride with me? Want to get something to eat? Can you help me with this?

FOUR QUESTIONS WORTH KEEPING

What is taking up most of your headspace? What are adults missing about your world? Do you want me to listen, help you think, or help you act? What would make this week easier?

ONE NEXT STEP WE AGREED ON

Write only what was actually agreed. Do not add a hidden assignment afterward.

PHONE PLAN

CHECK BACK

ADULT WILL FOLLOW THROUGH

THIRTY-DAY INTEGRATION

Choose two. Keep them small.

The point is return, not completion. Pick the practices that met a real problem and let the rest wait.

ONE RETURN PRACTICE

What will help you bring your attention back?

ONE LEAD OR KEEP PRACTICE

What will help you show up more steadily or protect what work cannot replace?

WHEN

WHERE

MINIMUM VERSION

AFTER THIRTY DAYS

What changed? What did not fit? What will you continue, redesign, or release?

A NOTE TO MYSELF
